PRICE THREE CENTS

TWO ARE JAILED AFTER ACCIDENT HERE ON SUNDAY

Two Chambersburg men are in the Adams county jail awaiting hearings later today before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, on charges filed by borough police following an accident on Carlisle street at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Frank B. Slavin, 23, of North Main street, Chambersburg, is charged with leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving, and operating an automobile without an operator's license.

Slavin was driving an automobile, police said, owned by Charles P. Cooper, 28, of 148 South Main street, Chambersburg, which crashed into the rear of a car owned and driven by Henry Theim, Springfield, Mass., just north of the railroad crossing.

Flees Down Alley
Cooper was charged with allowing an unlicensed operator to drive his automobile.

After the crash, Slavin jumped out of the car, police said, and ran down Race Horse alley. State police were notified, and Cpl. Jack Bartlett apprehended Slavin later on Buford avenue. He was committed to jail in default of bail.

Cooper was also placed in jail when he was unable to furnish $28.50, the fine and costs on the charge against him, police said.

Them said he was driving south on Carlisle street and had stopped in a line of automobiles, when the Cooper car ran into the rear of his vehicle. Damage to the Theim car was estimated at $150. Police estimated damage to the Cooper car at $25. They said Slavin had a learner's permit which expired July 3.

Cooper was treated at the Warner hospital for lacerations of the right hand and contusions of the scalp.

CLEAR GROUND FOR HOUSING SITES AT RITCHIE

Ground has been cleared for an extensive housing project within the confines of Camp Ritchie, located approximately three miles from the "Pentagon" site.

Special-type barracks 300 feet long will be constructed on the eastern slope of Mt. Quirauk which was once the firing range of the former military intelligence camp.

The number of barracks or the number of persons they will house has not been disclosed, but all indications are that the buildings will be used as quarters for workers of the underground installation in the Raven Rock mountain.

400 At Work Now

At present, only 400 men are employed on the project, but after the preliminary work of excavation is completed, it is expected that this number will be more than tripled.

No plans are being made for occupying the present barracks, which housed thousands of servicemen during World War II.

Contracts for the work have not yet been let, but a spokesman on the mountain project said that they may be awarded "within a few days."

The job of clearing the old firing range was a tough one, inasmuch as there were countless unexploded shells of all sizes.

When Camp Ritchie was in full operation, officers and men familiarized themselves with all types of artillery—both U. S. and captured enemy equipment. They would fire volleys into the mountain, and many of the rounds had failed to explode.

Demolition Team Works

To facilitate the work, a demolition team of three men accompanied the clearing crew. How many "live" shells were uncovered was not disclosed, but it was intimated there was a large number. Meanwhile, security regulations are becoming more stringent at the "Second Pentagon" tunnel installation.

Starting this week, signs have been posted in areas throughout the project that cameras are forbidden and (Continued on Page 2)

Exchange Student To Visit New Home

Miss Vreny Kammer, Swiss teacher who is in Adams county as an exchange student, has moved to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Yingling, Gettysburg R. 1, for the coming week from the home of Mrs. Rose Murren, Hanover R. 4. She will then go to Lancaster county and from there to Wisconsin, and later to Washington state.

Proclaim Martial Law In Tehran; Round Up Reds

Tehran, Iran, July 16 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh proclaimed martial law in Tehran today and ordered a big roundup of Communists following rioting in which between four and 16 persons were killed and more than 150 injured.

Police arrested more than 200 leftists following last night's rioting, which started with a Communist demonstration protesting the arrival of President Truman's representative, W. Averell Harriman, for talks with Mossadegh on the oil nationalization crisis.

Reports varied on the number of casualties in last night's fighting between the Reds and Mossadegh's National Fronters. An official police communique said one policeman and three civilians were killed. Earlier, however, the government radio reported two policemen killed, and a high police source said 14 civilians were dead.

Several bodies of members of the underground Communist Tudeh party were reported carried away from the riot scene last night for Communist-style "martyr funerals." The police announced 62 of their men had been wounded. A police source estimated 96 civilians also had been wounded.

P. O. BUILDING TO GET NAME AND HANDRAIL

After nearly 40 years, Gettysburg's imposing post office building will be labelled for the benefit of town visitors. Completed in 1912, the building has never had any external sign to identify it as Uncle Sam's post office.

Work underway now at the federal building includes the placing of a sign above the west entrance in five-inch bronze letters identifying it as Gettysburg's post office.

The same contract calls for the placing of handrails on the stone front steps.

Has $6,896 Contract
John Stapf, Harrisburg, has the contract for work which includes widening of the driveway at the rear of the building to accommodate the big "highway postoffice," placing of a new walk, blacktopping of the parking and drive area at the rear of the building, painting of exterior woodwork and minor changes in the interior to alter the present arrangement for "lookouts" used by postal inspectors.

The contract price is $6,896. Work is to be completed by August 7. The old driveway to the loading platform at the rear of the building was 16 feet wide. Five feet have been added on each side so that when completed the driveway will be 26 feet wide.

LATE BLIGHT IS FOUND IN COUNTY

Late blight, dreaded foe of commercial tomato growers, has been found in Adams county.

Assistant County Agent Fred Attinger said today that the blight, first seen in Pennsylvania, was discovered in about a dozen plants in the tomato acreage of Luther Lady, near Arendtsville. The plants were removed and a spray for late blight placed on the field.

Attinger said that the county agents' office, and field men from the C. H. Musselman and Knouse corporation are making constant checks on various tomato fields to catch any signs of spread of the disease.

Can Spread Rapidly
About three years ago the county suffered a severe attack of late blight, causing great damage to the tomato crop.

At the present the small attack of late blight in the Lady plantings is the only one known in the county or state. Attinger said that a check of about 40 other plantings in the county was made by him and Dr. R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist from Pennsylvania State College, immediately after the late blight was discovered in the one field. However, he added, no further infection could be found.

While the incidence of the disease does not indicate a serious condition at the present time, the matter must be watched closely, Attinger said. Rain and cool moist nights could spread the blight "with tremendous rapidity," the assistant county agent noted.

PLAN USWV PICNIC

Members of Sgt. William M. Steffy Camp No. 126, United Spanish War Veterans and the auxiliary of the unit will hold their annual picnic July 23 at the Robert E. Tip-ton cottage at Marsh Creek Heights, John A. Zimmerman, adjutant, announced today.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Linda Arlene Nichols, 19½ months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nichols, Littlestown R. 1, who died on Friday afternoon as a result of being accidentally run over by an automobile driven by her father. Services were held from the J. W. Little and Son funeral home, Littlestown. The Rev. Kenneth D. James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown, officiated. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery, Gettysburg. Serving as pallbearers were Edwin W. Elder, III, E. Paul Bigelow, Jr., Wayne Miller and Edward Knipple.

Block Party By Firemen Is "SUCCESSFUL"

The Gettysburg Fire company concluded a successful block party at the fire engine house Saturday night with large crowds both that night and the preceding night.

"What we did these two nights will almost compensate us for the losses we suffered because of the wind, hail and rainstorm on the evening of July 4," James S. Shenk, co-chairman of the anniversary celebration committee, said.

The block party opened Friday evening. Music for dancing was furnished during the evening by Harry Oyler's orchestra. The Blue and Gray band played a concert Saturday evening.

COLLEGE GRAD IS HONORED BY PENNSY V.F.W.

Hugh H. Hoke, graduate of Gettysburg college and a star basketball player while here, was elected senior vice commander of the Pennsylvania department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at its annual convention in Philadelphia on Saturday. Hoke is now treasurer of Schuylkill county and resides at Schuylkill Haven. He is a brother of Swartz Hoke, Barlow street, linotype operator at The Gettysburg Times.

James Davis, Philadelphia, son of the late U.S. Senator from Pennsylvania, was elected commander. Other officers elected include:

Elmer D. Christine, of Stroudsburg, junior vice commander; C. A. Gnau, of Williamsport, adjutant and quartermaster; Joseph E. Kovach, of Uniontown, judge advocate; Rabbi Seymour Rosen, of Philadelphia, chaplain, and Dr. William Dechery, of Philadelphia, surgeon.

Auxiliary Officers
Mrs. Dorothy Simmons, of Pittsburgh, was elected president of the VFW auxiliary.

Others elected were Mrs. Mary Lambert, of Johnstown, senior vice president; Mrs. Agnes Holk, of Philadelphia, junior vice president; Mrs. Florence Anderson, of Harrisburg, treasurer; Mrs. Rita Brocht, of New Kensington, chaplain; Mrs. Mary K. Guff, of Knox, conductor, and Mrs. Louise Grimm, of Uniontown, guard. Mrs. Evelyn Wood, of New Castle, was elected delegate to the National Council of Administration.

For sheer vivacity and endurance during the parade Saturday in the witting heat, one performer won the almost awe-struck plaudits of the sidewalk crowds. She was 17-year-old Gayle Thrust, of Hanover, a freshman at Penn State college, who was the acrobatic drum majorette leading the marchers of the Charles Nitterhouse Post, Chambersburg.

Shouts to Crowd
From the Parkway to Independence Hall, Miss Thrust indulged in what the acrobats call "chest rolls" that always ended up with the right side of her face brushing the street. And with this she combined such unlikely feats as standing on her head at every corner.

Grimy and drenched with perspiration, she did her last roll as she passed the reviewing stand, shouting to the crowd:

"I cleaned the streets of Philadelphia for you all by myself."

Dr. Adams began teaching in 1907. He was an elementary principal from 1914 to 1921; district superintendent, 1921 to 1924 and headed the old Normal school until 1930. He was then in charge of special education and for the past 14 years has directed the junior and senior high schools. He is the author of a number of textbooks.

5 CARS DAMAGED IN TWO CRASHES OVER WEEK-END

Three automobiles were damaged at 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning on the Lincoln highway three miles west of Gettysburg when an automobile slowed to turn into a side road and the cars following it came together, according to state police of the Gettysburg substitution.

Two other cars were damaged in a similar accident about a mile farther west at 11:15 o'clock Sunday night. No one was injured in either of the accidents.

Cars involved in the Sunday morning accident were those, state police said, of Richard Glatfelter, 42, of Manchester; Austin M. Richard, 46, of York, and Paul Bleen, 45, of Baltimore. Glatfelter's car was immediately behind the vehicle which made the turn into the side road, state police said, and was struck in the rear when he slowed down. All the cars were traveling west.

Damage to the Glatfelter car was estimated at $50; to the Richard car at $25 and to the Bleen car at $250.

In the other accident, state police said automobiles operated by John Henry Calhoun, 25, Baltimore, and Cpl. Frank Shemon, 23, of Aspers R. 1, were traveling east behind a truck. The Calhoun car turned out to pass the truck, police said, at the intersection of the new and old highways, and stopped when he found himself in the wrong lane.

He was struck in the rear by the Shemon car, police said. Damage to Calhoun's car was estimated at $20 and to the Shemon car at $75.

BEGIN FINAL SWIM CLASSES

The final classes in swimming instruction, under the auspices of the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross, opened today at the battlefield pool, Baltimore pike.

Both of the beginners' classes, at 11 o'clock and noon, are filled to capacity, the Red Cross said, with entrants from Gettysburg, Biglerville, York Springs and Abbottstown, but there is still room for more in the class for swimmers, also conducted at noon. This class is composed of many who took instruction in other classes and learned to swim.

Classes in life-saving, conducted at the pool at the Gettysburg country club, were completed Friday. Sarah Moore Scott, York street, and Suzanne Ziegler, South street, received senior life-saving certificates, and John Thrush, Springs avenue, renewed his certificate. A junior life-saving certificate was awarded to Jack Kunkel, Howard avenue.

Mrs. Edward Nowicki, chairman of the Red Cross water safety committee, extended her thanks to the country club for use of the pool. Miss Betsy Blocher is director of the swimming program.

Kansas Flood Passes On; Fire Burns Destructively 3rd Day

Kansas City, Mo., July 16 (AP)—The nation's costliest flood passed its destructive peak in the Kansas City area today and surged on eastward in Missouri.

But this metropolitan area of 900, 000 persons and eastern and central Kansas still reeled from the impact of high waters.

The twin furies of fire and flood lashed at Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kas., for the fifth consecutive day.

Four industrial districts were under water. Transportation was crippled. The water supply was curtailed. A seven-block fire burned fiercely and destructively—just as it has since last Friday.

In eastern and central Kansas, the swollen Kansas river and its tributaries receded generally, permitting some of the thousands of homeless to return to mud-caked areas.

More than 75,000 persons in both states were driven from their homes. But many of the towns still lacked power and water facilities.

Eastward in Missouri, the Missouri river crest rolled towards the central part of the state.

Cease-Fire Negotiators Make Some Progress As Reds Obey UN Edict To Ban Armed Guard

Munsan, Korea, July 16 (AP)—Cease-fire negotiators reported they made "some progress" in two 55-minute sessions today toward organizing an agenda for their Korean armistice talks.

Their next meeting was scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday (8 p.m. Monday, EST) in war-shattered Kaesong. After Monday's sessions United Nations negotiators announced:

"The Communists have fulfilled their agreement with respect to the neutrality of the conference site in that no armed personnel were observed."

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, commented during the noon recess "it is much better now that we are not surrounded by guards."

Both Sides In Accord

Newsmen on the spot said both sides appeared to be in harmony at the end of Monday's session.

Tuesday's meeting was scheduled for 11 a.m.—one hour later than usual—at the request of the Communists. No reason was given for the change in time.

Joy took the entire 55-minute Monday morning session to present further arguments in favor of the agenda proposed by the Allied delegation.

They took a two-hour recess at the Reds' request.

Then in the afternoon, cigarette-smoking Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red delegation, used another 55 minutes to present his views.

They talked only about agenda items. An Allied announcement said:

Reds Keep Word

"The United Nations command delegation reports that some progress was made to the formation of a mutual agreement upon agenda." The whole city had taken on a neutral tone as the result of Red acceptance of U.N. demands. Details were worked out Sunday, when conferences resumed after a three-day break.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said from all appearances the Communists were observing their agreement.

There were no armed guards along the route from the U.N. peace camp to Kaesong. There were none at the conference site.

North Korean military police were in Kaesong, as agreed Sunday, but they did not come near the meeting place. They carried Russian-type burp guns slung across their backs.

Children Cheer Yanks

Randolph, three other correspondents and an army captain strolled freely through the city, trailed by 100 cheering children.

Some guards scowled at the party, but there was no incident.

Members of the official Communist party, who had remained wholly aloof Sunday, smiled and attempted to converse through interpreters with Allied newsmen on Monday. Several Red photographers examined cameras carried by the Americans.

The U.N. and Red press parties arrived in Kaesong for the first time Sunday afternoon, and began busily photographing each other.

In a two-hour session Sunday negotiators patched up differences that had led to the interruption of cease-fire talks. Allied headquarters announced conferees agree:

Allied Directive

"1. The road leading to the conference site shall be open to unrestricted use of vehicles of the United Nations command delegation. No notice will be required for such movement."

"2. The neutral area, five miles in radius, with a traffic circle in Kaesong as its center would contain no armed personnel except the minimum need for military purposes. Such personnel (military police) could be armed with small arms."

"3. Any personnel required for security at the conference site would be unarmed. The conference site would be defined as an area having a radius of one-half mile, centered on the conference house."

Things went so well in the session that some observers were hopeful the task of drawing up the agenda would be completed in a few days.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage licenses have been issued at the court house to the following couples:

Herbert Penntpacker Lady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther M. Lady, Biglerville R. 1, and Margaret Ann Grove, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William B. Grove, Mercersburg.

JOHN R. STREVIG, CHAPLAIN, SENT TO FRANKFURT

Frankfurt, Germany, July 16 — Chaplain (Lieutenant Colonel) John R. Strevig, husband of the former Sara L. Ogden of Gettysburg, was recently reassigned in his overseas army assignment from Garmisch, in the southern-most part of Germany, to Frankfurt, Germany.

Chaplain Strevig, who is accompanied in Germany by his wife and 13-year-old daughter, Betty Ann, is now chief of chaplains in Frankfurt Military Post and its seven sub-posts.

A 1936 graduate of Gettysburg Theological seminary, Chaplain Strevig entered the army in 1933. During World War II, the chaplain served in the North African and Italian theaters from 1942-44. Participation in the Tunisia, Naples, Poggia, Anzio, and Rome-Arno campaigns earned Chaplain Strevig four battle stars, the Army Commendation ribbon and the Purple Heart.

Upon his return to the states, Chaplain Strevig was assigned to the Camp McLean prisoner of war camp in Texas for a year. The next four years he spent in the office of the Chief of Chaplains in Washington, D. C., prior to leaving the states on his current overseas tour in September, 1949.

TRUCKERS NABBED

State police of the Gettysburg substitution investigated two accidents Sunday, and made 17 arrests for violation of the motor code. Ten of the arrests, Sgt. Joseph E. Temple said, were for truck overloads. Others including reckless driving and making improper passes.

Kansas Flood Passes On; Fire Burns Destructively 3rd Day

Its destructive power was still there, but there were no great industrial cities in its path.

The towns along the river are still digging out of a flood that hit earlier this month. The Missouri runs 200 miles across the state from Kansas City on the west to St. Charles on the east. There it empties into the Mississippi.

All vehicular bridges between Kansas City and St. Charles are closed because of high water.

Seventeen deaths have been caused by the gigantic flood.

Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of the army engineers, said last night it appeared the cost will run considerably over the $500,000,000 he estimated on his arrival from Washington last week-end.

Train and highway transportation in both states is drastically curtailed. The National Guard, the Red Cross, army, air force, navy and coast guard have thrown men and money into the fight against high waters.

Aid has poured in from coast to coast and from Canada.

KING LEOPOLD QUILTS THRONE FOR HIS SON, 20

Brussels, Belgium, July 16 (AP) — King Leopold III of Belgium surrendered today the throne he held for 17 unhappy years, and urged his people to rally around his elder son, who now become King Baudouin I. Leopold's solemn words of counsel to his son, delivered before an assembly of 200 Belgian government leaders, had overtones of sorrow. After years of tragedy and bitterness, Leopold, now putting aside his crown, begged the Belgians to support his young son loyally and unselfishly.

Takes Oath Tuesday
Baudouin, 20, takes the royal oath tomorrow before Parliament. In the intervening 24 hours, the cabinet held the royal power.

Leopold signed the abdication document at 12:19 p.m. (6:19 a.m., EST) in the ballroom of the Brussels royal palace, in a ceremony kept simple to the point of austerity by the king's own wish. Prince Baudouin countersigned the document as chief of state, and then the prime minister, Joseph Pholien, and the crown notary, Justice Minister Ludovic Moyersoen, affixed their signatures.

The ceremony was in marked contrast to the entry of Leopold into Brussels 17 years ago, when he rode on horseback, amid much pomp and splendor, to take up the kingly duties.

He came to the throne upon the death of his father, King Albert, in a mountain climbing accident. Tragedy followed him. After he became king, his wife died in an automobile accident.

Retains His Title
Leopold, now 49, was a minor player in a world drama which was beginning just as he assumed the throne. The Nazis had come to power in Germany, and the way was being paved for a war which was to bloody Belgium's soil for the second time in a generation.

Leopold surrendered to the invading Germans despite the opposition of his government, and he was widely assailed as pro-German. During his long exile there was many a move to dethrone him.

The king — he will retain the title, but the phrase "of the Belgians" is dropped and in effect it is an honorary title now.

LEGISLATURE SETS RECORD

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—It was a July day in 1842. Governor David Rittenhouse Porter sat down to his desk and signed into law a bill increasing state taxes.

The Legislature had wrangled for weeks on a bill to increase real estate and personal property taxes by one mill. It settled for the tax on the proposition that counties would collect and return the money to the Commonwealth for state purposes.

That session ran from January 4, 1842, to July 26, 1842, for a total of 204 calendar days.

Income Tax This Time
Until now, only the 190-odd 1941 Legislature came close to approaching the length of that marathon session in 1842.

But it's an income tax, not the real estate tax as in 1842, that's prolonging the 1951 Legislature. It has been in session for 198 calendar days since last January 2.

The House and Senate are expected to recess again on Wednesday or Thursday to come back July 30. That will permit the lawmakers to spend all of next week at home for the July 24 primary election.

And when they return, the solons will have been in session for 210 days. Longer than any other Legislature since 1779.

Bridge Over Tiber Was Built In 1891

The old bridge under Springs avenue at the Meade school has been bearing traffic for the past 60 years, borough employees discovered today when they began repairs to one section of it.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner said the workmen, removing part of the stone and steel bridge, under the sidewalk at the school, found a plate giving the year of the bridge's construction as 1891. The section under the sidewalk began to sag last year and the workmen are engaged in repairing that part. The remainder of the stone bridge "looks to be in good shape," Winebrenner said. The structure is over the Tiber.

CHARGE FIVE DRIVERS

Three motorists were arrested last week by M. P. Noel, chief of police of New Oxford, charged with reckless driving, another for driving too fast for conditions; and one man faced a disorderly conduct count. Charged with reckless driving, according to the chief were: Richard P. Smith, Hanover, who was also charged with not having an operator's license in his possession; Charles Laughman, Hampton, and John M. Wildasin, Hanover; Russell E. Bly, Aspers R. 1, was taken into custody for driving too fast for conditions; and Joseph Forrest, Abbottstown, for being disorderly, the chief said.

START ANEW ON "CUTBACK" BILL

Washington, July 16 (AP) — Nineteen Pennsylvania Republican House members voted for and 11 Democrats against House insistence on an amendment which would prohibit two government agencies from filling more than 25 per cent of the vacancies that occur during the year that began July 1.

In addition, Rep. Gillette, Republican, was paired as though voting yes, and Rep. Kelley, Democrat, was paired as though voting no.

The amendment was included in an appropriation bill for the Labor department and Federal Security agency last week. The Senate knocked it out.

When the compromise bill was presented to the House, the House voted 223 to 170 to insist on its cutback amendment.

House and Senate thus had to start all over again in trying to reach a compromise on the issue. The point is important because whatever acceptable formula is worked out probably will be applied to all appropriation bills.

Senate voting last week was on amendments to the Interior department appropriation bill and pertained to subjects affecting the west and south.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sheehy.

Carol Rossini's wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional by the church organist who also played chime solos during mass.

A breakfast was served at the Weimer hotel following the ceremony for the wedding party, Rev. Gribbins and members of the immediate families.

Following breakfast the couple left on a two-week trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. Upon their return they will reside at 292 York street, Hanover.

The bride, a graduate of Hanover high school, is employed in the office of the Keystone Wire Cloth company.

violators would be prosecuted. So far, the only visitors allowed in the project are salesmen who must observe their products in operation, and visiting brass from Washington.

Liquidation Bill Faces Dim Future

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—A proposal to liquidate Pennsylvania's two big borrow-and-build agencies today faced rough going in the General Assembly.

The proposal was offered in the House by Rep. Albert Johnson (R-McKean), House Republican whip, as a money-saving means or the state.

The legislation would amend the constitution to permit the state to increase its legal debt limit to $215,000,000 to take over the debts of the general state authority and the state highway and bridge authority.

The proposal, now under study by the House Judiciary committee, faces a dim future, however, since it must be approved by August 1 in order to go on the November general election ballot. There is little likelihood of the proposal winning passage by August 1, if at all, since many lawmakers already have introduced bills calling for new building projects by the two authorities.

2ND DIVISION CLUBS TOPPLE LOOP LEADERS

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Ned Garver . . . Bob Hooper . . .
am Zoldak . . . Conrado Marrero . . .
Murry Dickson—unsung pitching stars all.

All fine pitchers, all fierce competitors, all stricken by the same misfortune—all toil for second division clubs.

Garver whipped the league-leading Red Sox 3-1 on five hits yesterday as the Browns held Boston to split in their doubleheader.

The Red Sox won the nightcap, 5, to widen their lead to two games over the Chicago White Sox who offered two stunning upsets at the hands of the Philadelphia Athletics, 1 and 5-0.

Ferris Fain Injured
Hooper, 29-year-old right-hander, started the White Sox for the first time this season, and Zoldak yielded only one hit as the seventh-grade Athletics twice humbled Paul chard's crew. The only hit off Zoldak was a third-inning single.

Chico Carrasquel, who was immediately picked off first. Sad Sam led only 28 men.

Hooper's home run in the top of the ninth with two mates aboard Philadelphia's first game win, until then, he had been locked in scoreless duel with Randy Gump-t. Ferris Fain, A's first baseman, flattered a broken bone in his foot and will be out about a month.

Chicago's one bright spot was the sliding of Carrasquel. Chico set a league record for errorless chances in 289, in 51 games. The mark of 288 was held by New York's Phil Rizzuto.

Sensors, Tribe Split
Marrero, diminutive Cuban right-hander, won his ninth game against five losses for Washington as he sixth-place Senators split with Cleveland. After Marrero won the game, 7-4, the Indians took the lead behind Mike Garcia, 7-2.

The Yankees divided a pair in Detroit to move up within three tenths a percentage point of the second-place White Sox. After Fred Hutchinson had pitched the Tigers a 5-3 victory, the Yankees eked out an 8-7 nightcap win. It took a fly relief job by Allie Reinfeld to the ninth to snap the Yanks' losing ways.

Brooklyn's league-leading Dodgers at a doubleheader for the second straight day as Cincinnati spanked em, 5-3 and 6-5. However, the "rooks' lead was shaved only one game, to eight, as both the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants were tied in twin bills.

Three Doubles Split
Dickson, Pittsburgh's little right-hander, held the Giants hitless in his superb relief innings to register his 11th win as the last-place Braves won the first game, 7-6, in 11 innings. The Giants took the second game, 8-3, as Jim Hearn hurled his eighth victory, his fourth over the Pirates.

Ewell Blackwell limited the Dodgers to seven hits in winning his ninth game for Cincinnati in the opener. He also walloped his first major league home run.

Philadelphia's Phils whipped the Cardinals, 6-4, after St. Louis had won the opener, 7-4. Stan Musial paced the Phils to its first-game win with a 17th and 18th homers.

After Warren Spahn had blanked Chicago, 7-0, the Cubs came back to whip the Boston Braves, 10-4. The Cubs' Dutch Leonard registered his seventh victory in relief in the opener. The shutout was Spahn's 11th. He has nine wins.

ASHBURN RANKS HIGH WITH STICK AND IN OUTFIELD

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—The man who stands second among the major league batting leaders is out to show baseball fans everywhere that he's the best centerfielder in the business.

So far as the cheering habitues of Shibe park are concerned, the easy going, always genial, tow-haired Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies is that already. But they grant that perhaps partisans in other places may need a little convincing.

The "Nebraska Comet" has been hitting at a red hot clip. His batting percentage is .359, exceeded only by the great Stan Musial, and in total hits he tops the leaders in both leagues with 121.

The 24-year-old Ashburn talks about his ambition without a trace of bravado. As seen a competitor as you'll find in the game, he figures he has profited by mistakes, had a few sharp jolts here and there and now is aiming for perfection. His pride is that of an athlete who thinks his sport is the finest of them all.

Actually, Ashburn is driving for a goal set in 1948, the year he became the Phils' centerfielder and won a rookie of the year award. He hit .333 that year and finished behind Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' star. And it's Musial again who is outpacing him, by 14 points.

But it's not for his batting prowess alone that the fleet Richie has been acclaimed. Called by Manager Eddie Sawyer "the best defensive outfielder in the National league," Ashburn has shown plenty of fielding finesse.

A Player's Player
Ashburn—5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 170—has been called a ballplayer's ballplayer, a "hit-em-where-they-ain't" specialist, a master of the bunt. But it was Joe Cronin, speaking of Ashburn's work in the pastures, who described him most picturesquely: "He fields like he was carrying a motor in his pants."

But success hasn't come without pain to the blue-eyed speedster. After his sensational rookie year Ashburn suffered from the well-known sophomoreitis. First, he held out for more money in 1949. Then his batting average fell to .284 and his stolen base total slipped to nine for the season (down from a league-leading 32 the previous year).

Idol Of The Fans
The quiet-spoken Nebraska admits his 1949 lapses were due to a "swelled head." "I got stuck on myself," he confesses.

But last year he settled down to the task of regaining a regular berth. He succeeded, eminently. The youngster helped the Phils to their pennant with a .303 hitting percentage and great all-around fielding. This year he's the idol of the fans who think he is carrying much of the load for the fifth place 1950 champions.

Five times so far he has cracked four hits in a single game. Last Saturday he got four of the Phils' five hits and practically beat the Pittsburgh Pirates himself, 2-0.

MOOSE WIN ONE TOURNEY GAME
The Gettysburg Moose softball team, representatives of the local league, won one of its three games in the district tournament at York Saturday. Two defeats eliminated a team from play.

The ultimate district champion will not be decided until next Saturday when the Italian-American team of Lancaster and the Hanover Dodgers, York county champs, play one inning to finish a game which was halted Saturday night after six innings due to an 11 o'clock curfew. The Lancaster team led 9-5 when the game was halted.

In the opening game Saturday at 3:30 p.m. the Moose lost to Hanover 6-4. Hanover tallying twice in the seventh frame to win the decision. Lakich hurled for the local team.

Bartholomew gave up five hits as the Moose eliminated the Letterkenny Bombers from further play 5-2 in their second game. Letterkenny, which is coached by Johnny Ridinger, formerly of Gettysburg, had been undefeated during its regular season.

Moreno's team of Harrisburg eliminated the Moose in their third game late Saturday evening 10-2, the lodgemen plainly showing the effects of having played three games within a few hours.

Pitching: Sam Zoldak, Athletics—Handcuffed White Sox with one hit—a third-inning single by Chico Carrasquel, as he turned in a 5-0 shutout in second game of twin bill. A's also won opener, 3-1.

SEE CROWD FOR CHARLES FIGHT

Pittsburgh, July 16 (AP)—With a break in the weather there's a chance the attendance record for a Pittsburgh fight may be broken at Wednesday night's 15-round title scrap between heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and ageless Jersey Joe Walcott.

The fact that the 37-year-old Walcott has lost four previous heavyweight title bouts—two to Charles and two to Joe Louis—doesn't seem to have lessened interest at all.

Walcott probably will enter the ring as sentimental choice of the crowd although Charles will be heavily favored at better than 3 to 1 odds. There is little betting thus far.

Charles admits he's no crowd pleaser because he isn't a knockout specialist. A skilled infighter who batters his opponents unmercifully, Charles thinks he'll knock out Walcott this time, and Walcott is equally confident he'll dispose of the Cincinnati negro via the kayo route.

Promoters are keeping their fingers crossed for clear skies when the fight goes on at Forbes Field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates at 9 p.m. eastern standard time. "We're not trying to get overly optimistic but there's good chance we may get nearly 30,000 people," said Promoter Jack McGinley. The all-time record for a Pittsburgh fight is the 27,042 crowd which watched the Billy Conn-Buddy Knox bout in 1942.

CITATION FIRST TO WIN MILLION
Inglewood, Calif., July 16 (AP)—Citation is the first million dollar winner in race history, but the big news today is that he isn't through.

Beset by injuries through part of his career, looking just like a so-so horse earlier this season, big Cy hit the peak Saturday when he ran away from the field in the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup to win by four lengths.

It boosted the six-year-old's lifetime earnings to $1,085,769. It was the biggest purse of his career, an even $100,000 which Hollywood Park guarantees the winner of its biggest event.

He also won the $100,000 Kentucky Derby as a three-year-old, but the winner's net was $91,870.

Trainer Jimmy Jones said Citation may run in the Hollywood Park windup next Saturday, the $50,000 Sunset handicap, "and probably once in Chicago and then in the Jockey Club Gold up in New York."

Cashtown knotted the score with three in the third on a single by Singles, bunt by J. Wetzel, single by J. Herring, double by D. Bucher and singles by C. Rebert and L. Wetzel. Cashtown then took the lead with single tallies in the fourth, sixth and eighth frames.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Fourth in Washington: The ceremonies of laying the cornerstone of the projected addition to the Capitol, appear to have been of a highly imposing character. A splendid and numerous procession, embracing civic bodies, Masonic societies, the officers of the Army and Navy, headed by General Scott and Commodore Morris, the officers of the Government, and so forth, paraded on the occasion, and after entering the Capitol grounds, were drawn up in order around the excavation for the corner-stone.

The Chaplain of the Senate offered prayer after which a glass jar, hermetically sealed, containing various valuable articles, were deposited in the corner-stone. President Fillmore then laid it with dignity and solemnity. The Masonic ceremonies succeeded, and finally an oration by B. B. French, Esq., Grand Master of the Masons.

The Hon. Daniel Webster read the address which he had prepared in commemoration of the event. The glorious day closed with a display of fire-works from the Mall south of the President's house.

Married: On July 3, by the Rev. B. Keller, Mrs. G. E. W. Sharratts, of Caledonia Furnace, to Miss Kate R., daughter of David Goodyear, Esq., of Graefenberg Springs, Adams county.

On the 3d inst., by the Rev. Jacob Ziegler, Mr. David Sheets, to Miss Elizabeth Rife—both of Liberty township.

On the 29th ult., by the Rev. J. Ulrich, Mr. Boreas Smith, to Miss Lydia Ann Spangler—both of this county.

During the storm on Wednesday evening, part of the roof of the barn at the Alms-house was blown off. A number of trees in the neighborhood were also prostrated.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
On Saturday a picnic and tournament was held at Lower's Mill, Butler township. Seven riders contested for the prize, a silver cake basket. Mr. Jerry Weaver took the prize, winning five out of nine tilts.

General News: Don Carlos is in Philadelphia.

Custer's Defeat: Full details of the terrible disaster to Gen. Custer's command confirm the original impression that his fatal error consisted in underestimating the number and strength of the Indians and rashly attacking them in advance of the arrival of Gibbons and Terry. At best his men were weary, having been in the saddle twenty-four hours when they made the attack. The force was divided into three parts under Custer, Reno and Benteen, to attack the Indians in front, flanking the rear. In this attempt our forces were defeated in detail. Reno's command, attacking in front, was barely saved from utter destruction by Benteen, who covered its retreat. This left all the Indian strength to turn upon Custer, who was attacking their rear. Their numbers were sufficient to surround him, and cut off all hopes of escape. The rest is simply a story of hopeless courage and savage slaughter.

Mr. Louis Strouse has sold his three-story house and lot on Chambersburg street, at $4,500, to Mr. Philip Daylik.

Accident: On Monday evening, our young friend, Mr. J. Albertus Danner, of this place, met with a serious accident. He was driving a one-horse Jersey wagon, intending to go out to the Katalysine Springs. In turning from Middle street into Baltimore street, the horse started to run, and the wagon striking the hitching post in front of Huber's drug store, the sudden check of the wagon threw Mr. Dan-

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

STOP, LOOK, LISTEN!

That famous sign we all are so familiar with, especially as placed before railroad crossings, "Stop, Look, Listen," we can well take with us everywhere we go. It would be a good thing for all of us to stop in our mad rush to beat out the other fellow or to wear ourselves out by trying to compete with the time-table.

Then there is that word Look. I recall the old admonition of my boyhood—"look before you leap." Before making many a decision we would gain a great deal by looking at the facts in the case and weighing them carefully. And how much we might learn, that we do not, if we would but use our eyes—keep looking for new discoveries, no matter where we may be. I recently read about some prospectors who stopped their car to look at an unusual formation of ground, and discovered a rich hoard of minerals there.

Perhaps that last word in our famous sign is the most important. The listener doesn't cross the railroad until he is sure no train is in sight. Thousands have lost their lives because they did not listen. The habitual listener is the wise one. He listens to talk, often arguments, without saying a word, and he mulls this talk about in his mind, putting aside what he newly learns, adding it to his store of banked knowledge. Make note, always, of the listener.

Often the listener in a group, or crowd, is the most interesting of all. You can almost guess what he is thinking from his quiet attitude and his intelligent expression. But keep your eye on him anyway, and if you can make his acquaintance you will discover a person well worth knowing and trying to. If you select the one who has been doing all the talking you may discover later that he is all "talked out!"

Often in the forest I have stopped, looked about me, and listened, only to discover the source of my "alert" as a tiny songstress near by letting its heart run over in song. In Natureland this noted sign of "Stop, Look, and Listen" is put into practical use by every lover of the wild.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Be a Dreamer!"

"I've never known a baby three weeks old so good to be."

I thought he'd cry a little, but he's quiet as a mouse.

I know the grandpa language, and I know the grandpa pride.

And I know he well remembers that his baby often cried.

So I chuckled when I heard him saying what I knew he would:

Adams County Farm And Garden Section

Use Garden Hose To Spray Plant Food And Pesticide

Spraying Hedge With Insecticide Mixed in Hose Water.

There is a growing use of hose water in home gardens for the application of plant food during the growing season; and some gardeners use it to apply insecticide sprays. It performs these tasks with a minimum of work by the gardener, saving many hours of his time.

Whenever plant food is to be applied to a growing plant, it is a problem how to get fertilizer down to the roots. Digging may disturb the roots, and perhaps do more harm than the plant food will do good. But when a soluble plant food is dissolved in water, it is carried down through the soil to take immediate effect.

It has recently been established by experiment, that the leaves of plants will absorb plant food in solution more quickly than the roots, and actually use a higher percentage of the nutrient, making it go farther. So it is actually more efficient to feed plants through the hose water, sprayed by a sprinkler, then to spread it on the ground dry.

Various devices are offered to mix plant food with the hose water. Most satisfactory are siphons which lift the nutrient solution from a pail or tub, and mix it with the water that passes through the hose in a ratio of 16 to 1. It is important that the solution be too weak to burn green leaves; and directions for this are given by the manufacturers of the soluble materials.

Nitrogen is the food element most likely to be needed by growing plants, and by lawns. It is carried away by drainage water and consumed by the plants; so is likely to be exhausted quickly when rains are frequent and growth vigorous.

Complete soluble plant foods are now offered, which will supply all food elements. Standard dry plant food mixtures contain a high percentage of soluble materials which can be used to form a nutrient solution.

To apply insecticides in the hose water requires special applicators, which mix the chemicals with the water in proper proportions for use on the plants. By using the water pressure, pumps are eliminated. Both insecticides and weed killers can be applied with a minimum of work.

BROCCOLI IN LATE GARDENS

Not only is broccoli one of the new-comers among popular vegetables in this country, but it is gradually winning wider favor because housewives are learning that the green coloring matter in the tender heads renders broccoli far richer in valuable vitamins than white cauliflower. Too, it is resistant to light frosts, thus meriting emphasis in late garden plans.

The most widely grown variety, Italian Green Sprouting, reaches edible size in a minimum of 70 days after sowing seed. The less widely known De Cicco variety matures about 10 days earlier. Both produce later and extra heads on the lower stems after the first or central head has been harvested. Therefore, with proper care late broccoli will continue to bear in this latitude until late fall.

Most planting charts indicate that rooted plants should be set out between July 15 and August 1 for late broccoli. But if enterprising gardeners will plant seeds where the crop is to grow, thereby eliminating the time normally lost by transplanting operations in retarded growth, final sowing may be safely made as late as July 15 to 20. Safety from unseasonably early fall freezes suggests July 25 for setting out plants and July 15 for sowing seed where the plants are to grow.

Seed may be sown in individual pots or bands and the plants later moved to their growing places without disturbing the roots. But even a better method is to plant seeds in groups of 4 or 5 about 18 inches apart in rows. After growth starts, all but one of the plants should be removed from each group. Removed plants may be carefully moved to missing locations or used to enlarge the planting.

Like its close relatives of the cabbage family, broccoli thrives in a deeply mellow, fertile, well drained, alkaline loam that contains plenty of organic matter. The late crop usually does well following early potatoes or other vegetable that has been liberally fertilized and has left the soil friable.

Green aphids (plant lice) will likely infest the young plants. They should be killed off before they grow too numerous to exterminate and before they weaken the plants seriously by their sap sucking. Prompt spraying with Black Leaf 40 in soapy water is recommended, applied to coat the lice and not merely the surfaces on which they feed. Fresh nicotine dust applied when the air is still and the temperature is above

70 degrees F. is also effective.

Of course, the common green cabbage worm relishes almost all relatives of the cabbage. Broccoli is no exception. But rotenone, applied as a dust or spray according to directions on the package, will afford control. On this point it is well to remember that the prepared rotenone dust is not usable for preparing sprays. Sprays are made from a special concentrated powder made especially for spraying purposes.

Late broccoli can be kept growing steadily to the peak of autumn goodness by one or more side dressings of nitrate of soda. This should be worked lightly into the soil in a broad band around each plant but not up close to the base so it comes into direct contact with the stem or roots. One pound is sufficient for 60 to 75 plants.

The editor invites all related late garden questions.

PRACTICAL NOTES ON POULTRY

One of the reliable marks of an unprofitable layer is early molting. Experience establishes the rule that hens which start to molt in July and early August should be culled. Dependable layers usually delay their molt until September and October.

Do not punish a broody hen. Her broodiness is an inherent trait, her desire to rear a family of her own. When hens begin to cluck about the premises, to remain on the nest, and otherwise display a disagreeable disposition, they should be penned in a roomy coop with a slat bottom at least a few inches from the ground so air circulated freely up under the birds. Proper feed and plenty of fresh water will soon bring strains of song—evidence that the broodiness has ended.

One of the major reasons why broody hens reduce flock profits is found in the fact that they may remain on freshly laid eggs and thereby render the eggs unfit for home use or sale. Of course, fertile eggs show developing germs in a few hours after they are heated by a broody hen.

And mention of fertile eggs brings up the important subject of egg production for market or home use. Fertile eggs (those from hens with access to roosters) are actually unfit for human consumption. They should be used only for hatching. That is the sole purpose of fertility. Therefore, no poultryman should allow male birds to range with layers when eggs are to be used for food. The indefensible practice causes losses annually in the United States running into one of most burdensome drains on the poultry industry.

Three times a day in hot weather is the minimum for gathering eggs—four times is a safer practice. By the time three of four successive visitors to the nest have heated the first-laid egg it is started on its way to deterioration.

One of the sound rules for egg care in hot weather is to remove the animal heat from it as quickly as possible after it is laid. This is another reason for frequent gatherings. Then too, the egg should be removed at once to a room where the temperature is between 45 and 60 degrees F. It is always well to remember that incubation starts at 68 degrees F.—another reason why it is so difficult to succeed in egg production where roosters range with the layers all summer.

Small, cracked, dirty, extra large and other abnormal or subnormal eggs should be kept for home use. If mixed with first grade eggs, such inferior eggs will bring the market price down to the minimum grade level.

Commercial poultrymen know and practice the rule—Never wash a dirty egg. First, keep nests clean and have one nest for every six hens. Keep layers confined to the house when yards and ranges are muddy. Gather eggs with clean hands. Then, if dirty eggs are found, clean them with fine steel wool or wire brush. Only when an egg is to be used soon is it safe to wash the dirt for the shell.

Eggs should be packed with the large end up. Summer watering is an important poultry task. Receptacles should be placed in comfortable shade and water kept fresh. Too, hens should not be compelled to travel far to reach a drinking receptacle. Hawks and crows can be scared away and an occasional intruder killed if a shotgun is kept handy. Fencing is one of the better forms of insurance against predatory animals.

Midsummer is a good time to start culling.

SUMMER CARE OF RHUBARB

On the basis of seven sound reasons rhubarb should find a prominent place in every vegetable garden where suitable soils and adequate space permit its culture. They are:

1. It is one of the most healthful food crops, appetizing as well as nutritious.
2. It is among the first crops to reach edible size in the spring.
3. Near towns and cities it can be developed into an excellent source of early spring revenue.
4. Because clumps continue to bear liberally year after year, rhubarb out-yields all other food crops man grows.

5. No other vegetable bears so many years from the original planting, thereby establishing rhubarb as the lowest costing of all vegetables.

6. This crop is remarkably free from insect enemies and diseases—a factor often overlooked.

7. Rhubarb may be grown successfully along fertile fence rows where rooted manure turned under deeply before planting time is beneficial. Weathered cow manure gathered from a summer pasture is excellent in this important role.

For the first year or two after early spring planting, only a few of the largest stalks should be harvested. Thereafter clumps should be stimulated to maximum growth by not cutting a large number of stalks at any one harvesting operation. Maintaining a heavy crop of leaves at all times is a vital key to keeping clumps healthy and thriving, because it is solely in the leaves that all growing materials are manufactured.

REPUBLICANS HAVEN'T GIVEN UP ON ACHESON

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, July 16 (AP)—Republicans in Congress haven't given up hope of getting rid of Secretary of Acheson. They've already gone pretty far, even to voting no confidence in him.

Instead of yielding to them, President Truman probably has set a record in President-Secretary of State relationships by repeatedly emphasizing his faith in Acheson and announcing he'd stay.

The House is scheduled to vote soon on State Department appropriations—money to run it another year—and a California Republican, Rep. Phillips, has an idea which goes something like this:

Some Lost Enthusiasm
The House should specifically say none of the department's money can be used to pay the salary of anyone who, in the preceding five years, was part of a firm which represented a foreign government.

Although this wouldn't mention Acheson by name, it would hit Acheson. He had been a member of a law firm which represented the Polish government here.

The State Department quickly said Phillips' idea would not only hit Acheson but also a number of Republicans who are "valuable and experienced officers" of the department. When they heard of this some Republicans were said to have lost their enthusiasm for Phillips' plan, although he says he's going ahead and ask the House to give it okay.

May Fall Flat
It may go that. But the plan will fall flat unless the Senate also approves. Plenty of the Senate Republicans want Acheson out but not all of them may like this method of trying to force him out.

Besides, an election year is coming up and some of the Republicans may feel they can get more political benefit out of letting Acheson stay around so they can make a campaign issue of him.

READY FOR POSTERITY—Dawn Davey views face of Bushman, famous gorilla, prepared for placement over a plastic skeleton at the Chicago Museum of Natural History.

But anyone reading this may wonder: why should such a roundabout way of getting rid of Acheson—not mentioning him by name—be chosen? Why not say Acheson can't draw any more department pay? Period.

Because the Republicans know they couldn't make it stick if they did mention him by name in an appropriations bill which said Acheson couldn't draw any more department pay. It would be unconstitutional.

It's possible that if Congress carries out Phillips' suggestion now, leaving out Acheson's name, the Supreme Court, if appealed to, might or might not rule this device for getting rid of an executive department employee illegal. Even though Acheson's name isn't mentioned, everyone who voted for Phillips' plan would know it affected Acheson.

The President has affected Acheson's money to keep Acheson and pay him if Congress refuses to let him have pay? Probably not.

In giving the President this emergency fund, Congress has said none of it can be used for any purpose for which Congress already has refused to vote money.

Sports Roundup

New York, July 16 (AP)—Something startling was bound to happen when the Toronto International league baseball club was sold a week or so ago. . . . The bidders were Bill Veeck, Branch Rickey and Jack Cooke, a Toronto radio man and magazine publisher. . . . Cooke got the franchise for about $300,000 because the former owners wanted to keep it in Canadian hands and the first thing he did was phone Veeck and talk things over. . . . So last Monday, the first game the Maple Leafs played under ownership, Jack gave away hot dogs and soft drinks, hired a vocal quartet to entertain the customers and pulled in a crowd of 7,700.

The next night screen star Gloria DeHaven was the co-attraction with terbaccer-chewing ball players. Although one writer complained Gloria departed while the home team was trailing and couldn't go to her left anyway, he deplored breaking up a "winning combination." And some 5,000 fans turned out. . . . Rain quieted Cooke's activities for a few days, but he says he's going to give away nylons and washing machines and do everything he can to make women fans because "women control the purse strings."

Looks like the move for one-platoon football, started in the east by Penn State, is gathering steam. Lafayette's Clipper Smith recently said he was returning to the old way and Lehigh's Bill Leckonby echoed with the proposal that the rules be changed to abolish two-platoon stuff. . . . Earl Caldwell, 46-year-old former American leaguer, still is pitching and winning for Harlingen, Tex., of the Gulf Coast league (13-2 record as of last week). His 26-year-old son, Earl, Jr., is a tennis star at the U. of Houston and played football until sidelined by a trick knee, but has no interest in baseball.

VACATIONER—Operatic and stage bass Ezio Pinza, co-star of play "South Pacific," attired in jaunty beach clothing, walks briskly about Eden Roc on the French Riviera.

Marty Furgol Is Western Open Champ

Davenport, Ia., July 16 (AP)—Marty Furgol, only a three-year follower of the PGA tournament trails, is the new Western Open golf champion.

He's an excitable fellow, this 34-year-old navy veteran of World War II. But you would never have known it watching him sink a 3½ foot putt for a 270 in a pressure-packed finish at Davenport Country club yesterday.

Cary Middlecoff, the former Memphis dentist, finished second with a 66 and a 271 total for 72 holes.

Furgol, three strokes back of co-leaders Sneed and George Fazio of Pine Valley, N. J., at the end of 54 holes, was 10 strokes under par for the 72-hole route. Middlecoff would have bettered that 270 figure if he hadn't fouled up the par-3 15th hole with a 5.

SENATE FACES PRESSURE FROM NEW QUARTERS ON INCOME TAX

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—The state Senate faced pressure from two new quarters today as the prolonged stalemate continued over the question of new state taxes.

Senate Democrats and House Republican leaders showed indications of stepping into the dispute for the first time as lawmakers returned to their duties.

A top House Republican leader, who declined to be named, suggested the controversial state income tax proposal might be made acceptable to those now opposing it if its revenues were limited to education only.

The source said the compromise plan may be submitted to Senate Republicans for consideration. The House already has approved the income tax levy.

Plan Compromise
Meanwhile, Senate Democrats were ready to join with anti-income tax Republican Senators in drafting a compromise tax program. The Democrats are solidly against the income levy.

Opposition of 11 Senate Republicans to Gov. John S. Fine's proposed one-half of one per cent income tax has held up all action on taxes for nearly three months.

The proposition of tying the income tax to education as well as paying off the World War II veterans' bonus already has been suggested by Sen. Paul L. Wagner (R-Schuylkill). Wagner is a member of an eight-man GOP committee in the Senate attempting to solve the tax dilemma.

Conference Today
Meanwhile, a GOP Senator, who declined use of his name, said Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, was seeking a conference with Republican Senate "rebels" on the tax-budget deadlock. Senate GOP members opposing the income tax have been dubbed "rebels."

The informant stressed, however, that the Democrats had nothing concrete to offer in specific tax proposals except to sharply increase business taxes.

Offsetting the Democratic compromise report however were week-end statements from Sen. James S. Berger (R-Potter) and Sen. John M. Walker, Republican floor leader, that the Republicans would settle the tax situation with the GOP caucus without either faction joining the Democrats. Berger is one of the administration income tax supporters, while Walker is one of its opponents. Berger said new conferences would probably get underway today among the 30 GOP Senators to iron out their tax differences.

Charge "Skulduggery"
The tax stalemate meanwhile brought a charge from Dent that alternate tax proposals suggested so far as a substitute for the income tax constitute a "skulduggery" plan by GOP administration leaders.

The Senate Democratic leader said the strategy behind the alternate proposals is to make them so "outlandish" that lawmakers will eventually get behind the income tax out of desperation.

"We're not being fooled at all by what's going on, and we're not going to fall for this trick to blackmail the legislature into passing the income tax," Dent declared.

The alternate tax proposals raised so far by the Senate GOP compromise committee include re-enactment of the lapsed soft drinks tax and increasing the amount from one to two cents a bottle, enactment of a 10 per cent tobacco tax, and increasing current levies on beer, liquor and inheritances.

PRIMARY TESTS STATE GOP HEAD

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—Dauphin county's Republican primary battle shaped up today as a fight for political life by State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, and a 75-year-old veteran politician's control of this GOP stronghold is being challenged by former Congressman John C. Kunkel, defeated by Sen. James H. Duff last year for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Taylor isn't running for office. But Kunkel is campaigning for the GOP nomination for county commissioner and is opposing "regular Republican" candidates backed of financing education in the General Assembly, the State Chamber of Commerce in a week-end statement called on the legislature to revise teacher salary legislation to limit a $200 pay boost for only the next two years.

House-passed bills, backed by the Pennsylvania State Education association, call for the $200 boost on top of another $200 previously authorized by the 1949 legislature.

The legislation would continue the increases as part of minimum teacher salary schedules in the future. This is the provision opposed by the state chamber.

by Taylor. Seventeen county and city offices are at stake. They include two common pleas judges and the mayor of Harrisburg. Taylor's organization has put up a complete set of candidates. And so has Kunkel's group.

But, basically, it's a fight between the personalities of Taylor and Kunkel. The choice of tickets by voters on July 24 will determine which of these two men will be the top Republican leader in Dauphin county.

Gov. John S. Fine already has pledged his support of Taylor in a measure of loyalty for the GOP state chairman's all-out effort to elect the executive last year. Underlining that loyalty is Fine's announcement that, although he would lend his active support to Taylor if asked, he would take no part in any other local campaign except in his home county of Luzerne.

Golf Course Death

Remains A Mystery

Norristown, Pa., July 15 (AP) - The cause of death of William Archie Walton, 60, of Norristown, remains a mystery today. An intensive search of the area around Jeffersonville Golf club has failed to produce a weapon that may have been used. Walton's body was found late Saturday with part of his face blown away but a coroner's physician was unable to find trace of a bullet.

Chief of Montgomery County Detectives Albert Murphy speculated that Walton may have been killed by biting into a dynamite cap.

Coroner W. J. Rushong said no verdict on the cause of death will be made until the inquest.

The game of polo is believed to have originated in Persia, and then spread to Constantinople. The game flourished in India in the 17th century.

UNION VETERAN 110 YEARS OLD

Rochester, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—It was 110 candles, plenty of big black cigars and even a letter from President Truman Sunday for James A. Hard, who was one of the veterans at Gettysburg in 1938 for the final reunion of the Blue and Gray. The nation's oldest surviving veteran of the Civil War marked his 110th birthday in the nursing home where he lives.

President Truman wrote: "It has just come to my attention that July 15th is your 110th birthday and it gives me a great deal of pleasure to extend to you my cordial felicitations. I'm glad to join your host of friends in extending very best wishes as you continue your journey through life."

The cake came from the local chapter of the Sons of Union Veterans. The national commander of the SUV, Cleon E. Heald of Keene, N. H., attended the reception. Hard greeted each of the 200 guests with a hearty handshake although he had to take their greetings sitting down.

"Never felt better," he said. As for his next birthday, Hard said, "it'll come, times goes quickly." His recipe for longevity is, "work hard, don't worry and smoke plenty of cigars."

The aged veteran enlisted in the Union forces when he was 19.

Nudists Name King, Queen In New Jersey

Mays Landing, N. J., July 16 (AP)—James Suplee and Mrs. Marjorie Secor were crowned yesterday and nothing else.

But nobody called police. The 19-year-old youth from Palmerton, Pa., and the pretty 21-year old blond from Prospect Park, Pa., were chosen nudist king and queen of the Eastern Sunbathing association.

The Eastern nudists wrapped up their annual convention by electing J. Reed Suplee, father of the new king, president; James Grant, Mays Landing, vice president; David Soles, Miami, Fla., secretary; and Gacon Couture, Montreal, Canada, and Mrs. Pam Johnson, Palmerton, Pa., directors.

CIO Urges Higher Corporation Taxes

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The CIO, backing the administration's request for a $10,000,000,000 tax increase, called today for sharply higher corporation levies than the House approved and took a swipe at business groups which have urged a sales tax.

The labor organization said $10,000,000,000 additional revenue—nearly $3,000,000,000 more than a House-passed bill would raise—is needed to put the government on a pay-as-you-go basis this fiscal year. In a statement prepared for the Senate Finance committee, Stanley H. Ruttenberg, director of the CIO's education and research department, urged that corporation taxes be increased $5,000,000,000 instead of $2,855,000,000 as voted by the House last month.

The CIO official declared that another $2,500,000,000 should be raised by closing "loopholes" in present tax laws. And he proposed an additional $2,500,000,000 boost in individual income taxes. Ruttenberg endorsed virtually the entire House bill provision which would hike individual levies 12½ percent to raise $2,847,000,000.

One study indicates that, at the age of 25, about 35 of every 1,000 Americans have some chronic illness of major disability.

Korean General Coming To Carlisle

Somewhere in Korea, July 16 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond yesterday said goodbye to the U.S. 10th Corps which he led ashore at Inchon 10 months ago for the first Allied victory of the Korean war. "No commander could ask more in battle accomplishment," the 59-year-old general said in his farewell to his troops. He turned over the command to Maj. Gen. Clovis E. Byers. Almond will head the War college at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. He left a forward air strip to the roar of 27 field guns. A band played "Auld Lang Syne."
